

SESSIONS TO DATE

(additional sessions to be announced)

- Pathways to student well-being
- Creating and sustaining a culture of transformative inclusive education leadership
- Grants management
- Scheduling: How to schedule to maximize student learning and realize FTE efficiencies
- Addressing equity: closing the literacy gap
- School committee/superintendent relations
- Leaves/collective bargaining/legal challenges to be aware of
- Public meetings: what have we learned and can leverage from our virtual experience
- Supporting all families through an equity lens
- ESSER: long term/multi-year planning
- Facilities/maintenance/capital planning
- Financial outlook: SOA/Federal dollars
- Equity audits
- Promoting students social emotional well-being
- Voc. Tech. roundtables
- Bussing blues
- Organizational equity in the hiring process
- Community engagement: rebuilding trust and relationships
- Berkshire County roundtable
- Rebuilding/reimagining mental health supports
- Culture changes: beyond mascots and gowns
- Rebuilding engagement and trust with your unions
- Title I regulations update
- Future of testing
- Critical race theory: challenges to
- Virtual education: what have we learned
- Recovery learning
- Taking control of health care

masc

MASC/MASS Joint Conference 2021

NOVEMBER 3-6

REBUILD.

RELATIONSHIPS.

Resort and Conference Center,
Hyannis MA

Virtual attendance is an option.

REGISTER NOW!

REBUILD

As we work to recover and move beyond the upheaval of the past 15 months, the MASC and MASS Boards of Directors are excited to be able to host once again our annual conference in Hyannis and welcome back new and veteran school leaders.

REGISTER NOW FOR EARLY BIRD SAVINGS

Full conference (live or virtual): $345 (before July 15); $495 (after July 15).

Register online at www.masc.org

ACCOMMODATIONS

Register directly on the hotel website:
www.capecodresortandconferencecenter.com
Book online: Use group code: MASC21

MEAL EVENTS

Information about meal registration will be sent under separate cover.

REIMAGINE

Over the past year, we have endured significant struggles; we have endeavored to meet these head on and provide the best possible teaching and learning options for our students and educators. We have also had to address some harsh realities about ongoing inequities in our schools, in our communities, in our country—and how these continue to define or narrow the paths for achievement and success for many of our young people. As we rebuild our educational model based on what we have learned, we are committed to reimagining a system that is better aligned to meet the needs of all our students, regardless of their personal challenges, their zip code, or language of origin.

This year's conference has been designed with that goal in mind. While still a work in progress, we are developing programs that will help you and your district address the challenges the pandemic has brought to light. Sessions will address critical issues including recovering social-emotional health; re-engaging the education community; and budget and finance (SOA and federal dollars). Keynote speakers (to be announced) will provide real-time takeaways on confronting the often uncomfortable conversations around diversity, equity and inclusion. And a panel of education leaders will hear from—and respond to—a diversity of students who will share their experiences of the past year and what they want from school leaders moving forward.

RELATIONSHIPS

Our planning process will also focus on ongoing health and safety concerns. We are working closely with the conference center to ensure safe and sanitary distancing and practices and we are reducing the number of sessions in order to minimize crowding. We are also conscious that there may be members who for reasons of health or family or work are unable to join their colleagues in Hyannis. For the first time, we are making the conference sessions and keynotes available remotely via Zoom in real time. The sessions will also be recorded and registered attendees will be able to access these programs on the MASC website at their convenience following the conference.

MASC 2021 DELEGATE ASSEMBLY

Saturday, November 6
9:00am